OTHER: Littleton Academy, a program of JRI, is a therapeutic residential school that serves latency age girls and boys who are coping with complex trauma, emotional dysregulation and learning difficulties. Through social, emotional and educational growth, the students at Littleton Academy develop the skills needed to attain their goals. The programs primary treatment is based on the ARC (Attachment, Regulation, and Competency) model, which focuses on helping to develop internal core strengths, and building strong, positive attachment, self-regulation and competency skills. At Littleton Academy, the students attend school on-site, year round, and have a full day of academic instruction. Our education program features small class sizes that combine cooperative, hands-on learning with individualized instruction. Our teachers provide clinically informed classroom support that takes each student's emotional needs and learning style into account. In addition to the traditional curriculum, Little Academy offers enrichment time through expressive arts, health and fitness, music, nature education and other programs.

AGENCY SUMMARY:

Justice Resource Institute is a non-profit 501(c)(3) human services agency. JRI is dedicated to addressing the most confounding challenges of both the human services and educational systems and the persons and families these systems were created to serve. JRI pursues the social justice inherent in opening doors to opportunity and independence. Although our range of services is as varied as those we serve, our approach is uniformly characterized by compassionate support, innovation, and community leadership. We work in partnership with individuals, families, communities and government to address their shared challenges in a comprehensive, coordinated, systematic, and effective manner. JRI seeks new knowledge and improved evidence-based practice, in research and in the field, in order to inform our continuous search for excellence in service.
